

The speed obtained by this meter is called “delta X speed.”

Derived from the 1955 paper by C. N. Nelson and J. L. Simonds of Kodak Research Labs, Simple Methods for Approximating the Fractional Gradient Speeds of Photographic Materials.